

Emily Sees the Future written by Matthew Kemp, bmi copyright 2022 all rights reserved

Emily Sees the future, But she don't tell me a thing
She said she's gonna keep it all to herself, between Channels Five and Three

Emily Sees the future, so I place my bets for free
On the way home I hear her voice on the radio And I cry Emily

Emily its getting pretty rough here
The Earth is crumbling beneath my feet If by some chance I don't make it please give them a message for me

Just a little letter to the children of the world life is what you make it Anything worth gaining you will suffer for and you better watch your back cause they're coming for yours
The system isn't broken its efficient as hellbut only works against you Public opinion is a pendulum swing &They'll try to crucify you over some stupid thing (look out Emily)

Emily I'm not sure I can do this Everything I need's beyond my reach I wouldn't ask for another (woah)
Please do this favor for me.

ALT Verse

Just a little letter to the women of the world You all deserve a lot better All I'm really saying is that men can do more We're really not treating you like we should But if you might be willing to take us all back We promise we'll be good And then real soon on a Saturday night We'll gonna you dancing like we said we would